

- Normal men, a comparative study of basal metabolism in, 368.
- Observations with the haematocrit volume-colour index, 245.
- Orthostatic albinuria, a study of, by means of graphic records, 73.
- Oxygen, muscular exercise, lactic acid, and the supply and utilization of, 135.
- Phosphorus and calcium, on the, of the blood in renal disease, 341.
- Physicians of Great Britain and Ireland, Proceedings of the Association of, at end of volume.
- Preliminary report, a, on some cases of contracted kidney, 1.
- Pyrexia in lymphadenoma, on relapsing, with an account of a case, 22.
- Quinidine in the treatment of auricular fibrillation, 204.
- Relapsing pyrexia in lymphadenoma, on, with an account of a case, 22.
- Renal disease, on the phosphorus and calcium of the blood in, 341.
- Renal glycosuria, variations in the threshold in, 236.
- Respiratory exchange, the, in cretinism and Mongolian idiocy, 11.
- Review of recent work in jaundice, 390.
- Rickets, aetiology of, a clinical investigation into the relationship of the fat-soluble 'A' vitamin to the, 321; the metabolism of calcium and phosphorus in, 63.
- Splenic function, relation of the cholesterol content of the blood to, 193.
- Studies on calcium and phosphorus metabolism, 45, 63.
- Study of orthostatic albinuria, a, by means of graphic records, 73.
- Supply and utilization of oxygen, muscular exercise, lactic acid, and the, 135.
- Threshold, variations in the, in renal glycosuria, 236.
- Treatment of auricular fibrillation, quinidine in the, 204.
- Variations in the threshold in renal glycosuria, 236.
- Vitamin, fat-soluble 'A', a clinical investigation into the relationship of the, to the aetiology of rickets, 321.